World-class education

Berkeley educates, challenges, mentors, and inspires tomorrow’s leaders in academia, arts and culture, business, government, and the professions.

- The university offers more than 10,000 undergraduate and graduate courses in more than 300 degree programs, and is among the top Ph.D.-granting institutions in the U.S.
- Berkeley offers approximately 65 modern and ancient languages, including Armenian, Hindi, Ukrainian, and Vietnamese.
- 48 percent of Berkeley undergraduates responding to a 2022 student survey assisted faculty in research or had completed at least one research methods course.

Library excellence

13.8 million+ volumes

400+ languages represented in the collections

1.1 million+ visits to Doe Library last year
A research powerhouse

Berkeley’s world-class reputation and performance in academic research reflects expertise in addressing pressing global challenges in the areas of health, energy, and the environment.

Across 34 subject ratings in U.S. News & World Report’s 2023 Best Global Universities rankings, Berkeley ranked third in space science; fourth in chemistry, economics and business, and physics; fifth in plant and animal science and computer science; sixth in environment/ ecology and mathematics; ninth in biotechnology; and 10th in arts and humanities.

Additionally, Berkeley’s graduate programs in English, history, sociology, and psychology each ranked No. 1 in the country in U.S. News & World Report’s 2023 Best Graduate Schools rankings.
Berkeley’s commitment to hiring the very best young faculty is reflected in the university’s high number of junior faculty who receive coveted research fellowships from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.
An impact beyond the classroom

Berkeley is well known for its tradition of public service, which plays a key role in the university’s teaching and research. Outside of the classroom:

■ More than 6,000 graduate and undergraduate students served community-based organizations, government offices, and schools in 2021–22.

■ Berkeley has produced the most Peace Corps volunteers — more than 3,700 — since that organization’s inception in 1961.

Commitment to public service

The UC Berkeley Public Service Center, founded by students in 1967, partners with the community, student leaders, and faculty to engage nearly 6,000 students each year as volunteers, as well as through jobs, internships, and courses.

Then and now: the challenge of state funding

State support for Berkeley is far below what it once was, placing California’s world-renowned system of public higher education at risk. The state of California is projected to provide 14 percent of Berkeley’s $3.2 billion annual budget in 2022–23 — with the remainder coming from tuition, research funding, philanthropy, and auxiliary activity. Thirty years ago, the state provided more than one-third of Berkeley’s funding.

Leaving Cal with less debt

According to a 2020 study by the Institute for College Access and Success, Berkeley undergraduates graduate with less debt than their peers at institutions across California and the nation.

Attracting scholars from California and beyond

Approximately 23 percent of Cal’s undergraduates are out-of-state and international students — and the additional nonresident tuition that they pay helps keep Berkeley affordable for lower-income California students.
Light the Way: The Campaign for Berkeley

Embracing tradition and the future, resilience and excellence

The best public university in the world, UC Berkeley projects a brilliant light. Both parts of its identity — its comprehensive excellence and its public mission — set it apart from its elite private peers. Berkeley is committed to serving the public good, and this is reflected in the priorities and vision for Light the Way: The Campaign for Berkeley.

By focusing on those priorities — faculty and fellowships, opportunity and excellence, research for the public good, and places of possibility — Berkeley is challenging the philanthropic community to partner with the university to help illuminate new possibilities for a better tomorrow. Together we will empower the next generation of leaders, push boundaries of knowledge, challenge convention, and fuel innovative solutions for society’s greatest challenges.

To learn how the entire Cal community is mobilizing to stand together, demonstrate its collective power, illuminate knowledge, and realize a common vision for our future, visit light.berkeley.edu.

Berkeley’s growing light

The campaign, which runs through the end of 2023, has already reached its goal of raising $6 billion to enhance the Berkeley experience. As the campaign draws to a close, the university remains focused on raising additional funding to support several key areas: growing our faculty, increasing undergraduate and graduate support, and funding capital projects. Visit light.berkeley.edu to learn more about how you can invest in these key priorities.
Power of Philanthropy

A public mission made possible by private support

More than 63,000 donors — including alumni, parents, corporations, and foundations — gave over $1.2 billion in gifts, pledges, and private grants in the 2021–22 fiscal year.

Berkeley’s endowment: a lasting legacy

The university’s $6.95 billion endowment is the solid foundation upon which Berkeley’s excellence is built. A long-term, reliable source of funding, the endowment allows us to realize our mission of teaching, research, and public service for generations to come — and to see a clearer picture of what lies ahead for Cal.

Berkeley’s endowment generated $184 million in payout to the campus in 2021–22.

One day, big impact

On March 9, 2023, Berkeley held its annual 24-hour campuswide fundraising blitz — Big Give. Fueled by a variety of contests, widespread social media participation, and a collective desire to keep Berkeley among the best public universities in the world, more than 14,000 donors made gifts totaling over $12 million. This global outpouring of support touched every Berkeley school and college, and programs as diverse as our great university.

Keeping educational opportunity alive

Scholarship support from private donors enables Cal to fulfill its public mission to accept students based on their ability to achieve, not on their capacity to pay.
